FACTORY CAPABILITIES

Our vertically integrated business model sets us apart from our competitors. We are an innovative manufacturing business with a global reach for over 40 years. We do this exceptionally well, from the raw materials to the end finished product. We process wood logs to furniture as well as our own clay mixtures to bathroom vanity sinks.

SAW MILL

Our Sawmill accommodates a large range of log sizes. This mill, combined with our other sophisticated cutting machinery, allows us the freedom to prepare our wood in any way we see fit for the current projects at hand.

VACUUM KILNS

We have the largest vacuum kilns in Asia. These specialty kilns can dry raw lumber in 1/10th the time of common conventional kilns. Each kiln can hold an ample supply of lumber with output totaling approximately 17,000 board feet a month.

CONVENTIONAL KILNS

16 units in total. Each kiln holds about 3,500 board feet. Every conventional kilns is computer controlled and regulated to ensure proper drying throughout.

FINISHING

We have 16 finishing booths, combined with a 1-mile robotic line capable of moving 600 pallets through in a day. We also have 6 additional booths that have a 1 mile overhead robotic line leading to our heated drying area.

We are proud to work with well-known wood finishing companies such as Akzo Nobel, Sherwin-Williams, and Propan. With these external experts in-house, we can match any finishes our customers desire.

RESIN

We mix resin with color, glass chips, river stones, burnt wood, sea shells and more to create unique looks of exceptional beauty.

VENEER

We use a broad array of natural wood veneers for our furniture construction.

SCREENPRINT

ACACIA

Acacia is deep brown in color and rich natural grain. It's a sustainable wood because it is a fast growing and renewable resource. If you're looking for wood that is strong and resistant to wear and tear, acacia wood can meet your needs. Once you see the beauty and the sturdiness of the wood, you'll realize the value of this species.

GMELINA

Gmelina is a fast growing plant, which grows on different localities and prefers moist fertile valleys. With good growth conditions, some trees reach a height of 3 meters after one year, and 20 meters after 5 years. The timber is easy to work with hand upon exposure. It is also soft to moderately hard and light to moderate heavy. Its texture is usually straight to irregular or rarely wavy grained and medium course.

MANGO

Mango wood is a favorite choice by many designers. Mango wood harvested for timber when stop bearing fruit. Once the mango wood is dried and treated, insect and fungus will never come, leaving behind the gorgeous patterns and colors we see in the wood. The yellow to greenish brown color with pink and black spreaks makes mango wood unique.

MAHOGANY

Mahogany is grown in almost every continent, making it one of the most prolific of all the wood species. Mahogany trees are among the biggest of all trees regularly harvested. Mahogany trees yield more timber per running foot than almost any other species. Mahogany is very stable due its close, straightgrain pattern and lack of soft grain.

MINDI

Mindi, which is naturally resistant to decay and fungi, is another name for white cedar wood. Dutch travelers and merchants brought it to Indonesia. The natives started growing the wood in plantations and named it "mindi". Mindi extremely workable, the naturally coarse wood sands smoothly, tolerates friction, saws easily, and dries effortlessly with less shrinking and warping than comparable materials.

TEAK

Teak is valuable both for its elegance and durability. Teak, however, can retain these oils and its rubber even after being felled and processed. Because of this, Teak has greater naturally weatherresistant properties than just about any other type of wood. What's more, the oils and rubber protect the heart of the wood from invaders like fungi and parasites that can destroy other woods.
